POLICE ARREST 2 TO BREAK UP AUTO STEALING

East Liverpool Men Are Grilled By Authorities Here

MORE SUSPECTS ARE BEING SOUGHT

One Pleads Guilty, Held For Grand Jury; Second Awaits Hearing

A recent wave of automobile thefts was believed solved today with the arrest of two East Liverpool men and the subsequent breaking up of an alleged theft ring.

The arrests followed an investigation by Chief of Police Ralph Stoffer and Corp. W. E. Arey of the state highway patrol sub-station here.

Those held are Joseph Horner, 23, and Eugene Mike, 22, an employee of an East Liverpool auto wrecking company.

Attempts to Flee

Horner was arrested at his home in Dry Run, East Liverpool, yesterday morning by the two Salem officers, on a charge of auto larceny. The officers said he attempted to flee from his home but was caught. Mike was arrested in the afternoon, charged with receiving stolen property.

Horner and several other suspects, not yet apprehended, are believed to have been responsible for the theft of four or five automobiles here during the last two months, selling them through the East Liverpool junk yard.

Horner, who police say served time in a federal prison for stealing a car and driving it into another state to sell, confessed at Chief Stoffer's office last night that he stole the 1928 Chevrolet coupe owned by Bruce Price, of R. D. 3, Salem, while it was parked on E. Pershing st., Oct. 31.

Patrolman Nerr Gaunt, Mayor George Harroff and Safety Director C. E. Donahay aided in grilling the suspect last night. Although admitting the theft, Horner refused to sign a confession and then was given an immediate hearing before the mayor. He pleaded guilty, however, to the auto theft charge and was bound over to the grand jury. He is held without bond.

Mike, the other prisoner, was at liberty today under $500 bond after Judge Frank Grosshans of East Liverpool municipal court set his hearing for Friday morning.

Tosses Plates in River

The police claim Horner stole Price's car here, drove it to East Liverpool, removed the license plates, threw them into the Ohio river, and then had Mike sell the vehicle to Harold Deeds of West Point.

Deeds, the victim in the transaction.

STUDIES OHIO RELIEF PLANS

Senate Committee considers $12,000,000 Long Range Program

(By Associated Press) COLUMBUS, Dec. 28.—The senate relief committee began consideration today of a $12,000,000 long-range relief program for Ohio which already bore the stamp of house approval.

Another senate committee, appointed to investigate allegations of "legalized graft" in state departments, also deliberated but a date for public hearings on the charges remained undisclosed.

Chairman J. Ralph Seldner and former Senator James M. Metzger, counsel for the committee, conferred yesterday but made no announcement. It was anticipated generally that the hearings would begin later in the week.

Cais Commissioners

Meanwhile Montgomery County Commissioner Sam G. Carr, chairman of the taxation and legislative committee of the Midwestern County Officers' association, issued a call to commissioners of Ohio's 81 counties to meet with the senate relief committee today for consideration of house-approved relief bills.

One would allocate $6,500,000 state revenue and provide that local sub-divisions be required to match only half the total amount received from the state. Thus the cities would get up $3,250,000.

Another house-approved bill to be acted upon by the relief committee would reenact the one per cent utility excise, beverage, malt and wort taxes for two years and allocate amusement taxes for relief for a similar period, for a total of $5,500,000.

Davey Signs Bills

Four bills, three of them emergency measures, were signed by Gov. Martin L. Davey yesterday. They provide:

Validation of transfers of money for flood relief made by various Ohio river cities last spring after the legal transfer time had expired.

Validation of various bond issues for Works Progress Administration projects in which there were technical errors.

Authorization of use of unexpended flood relief funds by counties for poor relief.

Appropriation of $190,000 for the state employment service.

The house was in recess, subject to the call of Speaker Frank R. Uible until that call was not expected until the senate acts upon a relief program.

HURLS DEFI AT GRAFT PROBERS

Governor promises "Bristling Speech" Before Assembly

(By Associated Press) COLUMBUS, Dec. 28.—Gov. Martin L. Davey announced today that he would ask the legislature to authorize a sweeping investigation of "everything and everybody, including some senators."

"I'm going to name some names and tell the sins of the sinners," the governor declared.

Answers "Graft" Probers

His announcement was in answer to a senate-proposed investigation of alleged "legalized graft" in state departments.

The executive said that he would make his investigation proposal before a joint session of the senate and house next week.

Governor Davey announced he would ask the legislature to pass a law creating a nine-member committee to make the inquiry. It would be composed of three senators, three members of the house of representatives, the president of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, the president of the Ohio Federation of Labor, the president of the state senate, or their representatives.

The senate on Dec. 17 authorized a seven-member special committee to conduct an inquiry of all state departments, but no funds have been appropriated for its work.

Governor Davey last summer vetoed a $50,000 appropriation for a similar senate inquiry.

Impartial, Says Davey

"Such a committee (as Davey proposed) would be more impartial and could get to the bottom of everything requiring investigation," the governor said.

The governor promised a "bristling speech" before the joint assembly session.

Ask Dissolution Of Education Club

LISBON, Dec. 28.—A petition seeking the dissolution of the First Czech-Slovak Education club of Salem on the grounds that the objectives of the corporation have failed, was filed Monday in common pleas court by Martin Zaiko and Andrew Lipjanec of Salem, trustees.

The petition charges that none of the 1,000 shares of capital stock has been issued to the stockholders and declares that the corporation's objectives have not only failed but have been abandoned. The organization has an income of $200 a month, according to the plaintiffs, as well as $2,000 in the bank.

The petition seeks an accounting and appointment of receiver in addition to dissolution of the corporation.

BUFFALO HIT BY POWER FAILURE

Hospitals Use Emergency Equipment As Current Is Cut

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 28.—Buffalo and its suburbs, representing a population of approximately 700,000, encountered its second serious emergency within a month today when electric service failed in more than 100,000 homes.

Three weeks ago a winter storm crippled the city and environs. Hospitals, office buildings and stores also were affected by the power tieup in the state's second largest city, only 20 miles from Niagara Falls, source of one of the world's largest hydro-electric power developments.

Shoppers and office workers were marooned in elevators between floors in eight downtown buildings, and homes were in semi-darkness due to cloudy weather and lack of lights.

Many automobiles were put out of commission because filling stations were not able to pump gasoline into empty tanks.

Traffic lights failed. Six hospitals were without electric service. In several cases, however, auxiliary service was brought into use while operations were completed.

A low, rumbling explosion in a large electric distributing plant in suburban Tonawanda followed by fire cut off the electric service of virtually all residential sections at 9:22 a. m. (EST).

To out-of-town lighting experts has been assigned the task of passing upon the merits of approximately 60 entries.

That the job will not be an easy one is indicated by the laudatory comment heard already on many of the various homes.

Many Salem residents have been spending pleasant evenings since Christmas touring the city and gazing with amazement upon the artistry that has been created by the hand of the electrician, both professional and amateur.

LIMIT RELIEF, SAYS F. D. R., TO BALANCE FUNDS

Will Give Views to Congress Next Week On '38-'39 Budget

CAPITOL HILL TO GET FIGURES JAN. 4

Treasury Officials Indicate Axe Will Fall On Expenses

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Usually well-informed officials said today President Roosevelt would tell congress next week that the 1938-39 budget can be balanced if relief expenditures can be held within bounds.

The budget which he will send to Capitol hill Jan. 4 is not expected to contain a definite relief estimate. Because of uncertainty about the severity and duration of the current business recession, the President probably will give only a tentative figure.

See High Relief Costs

Some members of congress have expressed the opinion relief costs will run so high that a balance between federal income and outgo cannot be reached.

Treasury officials, however, indicated that the expenditures for items other than relief and national defense would be sliced liberally in an attempt to bring about a balance.

Government spending will constitute one of the principal subjects before the session of congress which meets next Monday.

One experienced member predicted congress would be kept in session by controversial topics, at least until mid-June, despite the "spade work" accomplished at the recent special session.

An item which most congressmen believe will be added to the administration program is new anti-trust legislation. President Roosevelt originally placed it on the special session agenda, but offered no specific proposals.

Before congress can debate an anti-monopoly program, it must deal with such complicated and controversy-laden subjects as farm control, anti-lynching, government reorganization, and taxation.

Finish Bill Soon

The house ways and means committee is expected soon to finish a bill to revise the federal tax structure, placing particular emphasis on the corporate surplus and capital gains levies.

In the senate, anti-lynching legislation already approved by the house will have the right-of-way. It will be followed, under present plans, by the bitterly-opposed government reorganization bill.

Other proposals, either on the administration program or strongly backed by members, include:

Creation of seven regional planning authorities.

Revision of the Wagner Labor Act.

Curtailement of road appropriations.

Wage-hour and child labor legislation.

Miss Campbell gave her mother a blood transfusion but it failed to save her life. At a coroner's inquest Miss Campbell admitted the shooting, explaining, however, it was accidental.

CORONER RETURNS VERDICT

Rules Daughter-In-Law of Steel Man Died Accidentally

(By Associated Press)

WARREN, Dec. 28.—Miss Louise Campbell was ordered freed from the Trumbull county jail after Coroner J. C. Henshaw ruled the gunshot death of her mother was accidental.

The 28-year-old girl had been in jail without charge since Saturday.

Mrs. Campbell, 55, daughter-in-law of a pioneer Ohio steel master, James A. Campbell, died Sunday of internal hemorrhages induced by an abdominal wound, despite a blood transfusion from her daughter.

Coroner's Verdict

The verdict of the coroner's inquest said:

"All the witnesses in connection with the fatal shooting of Mrs. Cordelia Campbell were thoroughly examined by Coroner J. C. Henshaw, and they all stated that the shooting was accidental."

"Also a statement was made by Mrs. Campbell before she expired that it was an accident."

The order for the release of the young woman gave her the opportunity to attend the private funeral services for her mother at a Youngstown funeral home.

A close guard had been placed over the blonde, handsome girl last night after her counsel said she "wanted to die."

Her face drawn and tear-stained, Miss Campbell related at an inquest yesterday her story of a happy gathering which progressed from eggnogs and tree decorating to gunfire and death. The small blonde, dressed in black, left the jail for the first time since early Christmas morning.

PROBING THE RECESSION

The newest prospect of enlightenment about national affairs—a senate investigation of unemployment which may branch out into a probe of the whole recession, lock, stock and barrel—indicates in a general way the atmosphere prevailing at the end of 1937.

Its most conspicuous characteristic is incredulity. Unable to understand why the budding boom of 1939 didn't burst into full bloom in 1937, the country is in a mood to probe deeply into the mystery. It simply cannot believe what it sees with its own eyes.

Surely, it reassures itself by saying, there is a screw loose somewhere, or maybe a loose connection or a piece of defective wiring. When that is discovered and fixed everything will be all right again. Not only politicians talk this way, but the biggest of big businessmen, some of whom say they believe the whole situation could be transformed overnight by exactly the right words from President Roosevelt.

This is an attitude to be analyzed and, if it be so desired, remembered for future reference and comparison. Much is said about the importance of mass psychology in these days when everything depends on which way and how soon the masses change their collective mind.

At the end of 1937, it is a fact the masses refuse to believe there is anything seriously wrong with the United States—at least nothing so serious it can't be fixed in a jiffy by a little expert repair work. The job, as always, is to find expert repairmen.

PERFECTLY TRUE

Whether or not President Roosevelt's pointed remarks about congressional economy save a single penny, they do put him on record plainly as a public official who is willing to face the bald truth of the economy problem in a representative government.

That is the hard, cold fact that politicians won't vote to cut expenses till their constituents want expenses cut. A politician's first obligation is to get elected. The best way to get elected in the United States is to laud the gravy.

Naturally, everybody believes in economy; no one indorses waste and extravagance. The trouble is that economy always is recommended for the other fellow, the other town, the other county, the other district and the other state.

Speaking of his own unpopular proposal for cutting down federal highway appropriations, the President pointed out that if legislators always were to give in to the demands of their constituents "there would not be any solvent government after a few years."

He continued: "If the congress decides to keep on spending between two and three hundred million dollars a year on federal aid highways, the congress can, in its wisdom, reduce other appropriations to make up the difference. The above facts may be unpalatable but, as you know, they are perfectly true."

Is there any dissent?

OFFICIAL VERSION

Japanese statesmen who feel responsibility for getting their country as far into the clear on the Panay incident as circumstances permit can thank their lucky stars Lieut. Comm. J. J. Hughes' report on the destruction of his ship followed the incident by almost two weeks.

For Comm. Hughes makes perfectly plain what most Americans hesitated to believe at first—that the attack on the Panay was deliberate, that no mercy was shown. Whatever the reason or lack of reason for the incident, Japan, it turns out in the official version, had an infinitely stronger motive for apologizing quickly and profusely than Americans were able to realize until reading Comm. Hughes' dispassionately worded account of the deliberate destruction of a symbol of the United States government in the far east.

It is made a little plainer now why officials in Washington have been dealing with the Panay affair as a major incident.

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Dec. 28—Quite a number of show people vanish from Broadway but are no further away than those peaceful New Jersey and Long Island suburbs with spreading lawns, tree-lined streets and block after block of houses as alike as candies in a box.

The recent passing of Edna Leedom, the comedienne, is a striking illustration. She was as much a part of the showy strip as Fannie Brice today. A frequent patron of the bright cafes and often with the gang at Reuben's when the sun was casting a bleary eye over the island.

Then news one day of her marriage and the Rialto saw her no more. It developed that all the while she was living in nearby Jackson Heights, going to market daily, attending meetings of the women's clubs, and rearing a child. Jessie Reed, noted Follies beauty, vanished similarly.

Alice Poole, Ziegfeld's famous telephone girl, has a list of stage beauts of other days who did not marry the millionaire and wind up in the psychopathic ward. But who rather married white collar workers and lived happily ever after.

Frequently the mail brings letters from old troupers

in southern California or Florida who stress a living cheerfulness they profess not to know existed. All their professional lives were cast in cheap hotels, raffish dressing rooms and sleeper jumps. They express the gratitude of freed slaves—and never want to see the big town again. Or so they say.

The young publisher, M. Lincoln Schuster, is said to have the slickest of the private libraries. To accommodate some 10,000 volumes of his bibliophile treasures he built a Georgian wing to his house at Seaside, L. I. It is air conditioned and shelves are lit by independent lighting. But the very gee whizz in private library elegance was expressed by the now broke Duke of Manchester in his opulent days. He had a night librarian, on duty to bring any volume desired if his Grace had a sleepless hour or so and felt like reading.

Anyone watching cartoonists at work will agree it's the most gruelling of professional grinds. More than most creative workers, they have difficulty taking off even after they have settled on an idea. For every cartoon is a dozen or so approaches, and often they make innumerable drafts before hitting upon one they like. Cartoonists invariably sit at drawing boards during the period of gestation. They cannot walk and ruminate as the writer or sculptor. Thus for hours they stew in their own juice until they strike their gait—then they often finish the job in an hour. Most cartoonists I have known take an oath almost weekly they will never draw another cartoon.

Homer Davenport was said to be the most sensitive to reader reaction of the limners. If the managing editor did not show almost immediate approval of his completed stint for the day he would snatch it away and tear it to bits, but with no show of anger. He would merely go to work and produce another, believing a cartoon's province was to please by a glance. If it did not catch the editor's eye thus he did not think it would the reader's. Incidentally, three of America's most gifted cartoonists—Webster, Ding and Tad—have, during their careers, learned to draw with their left hands after their rights through accident or over-strain, went back on them.

They never learn note: Sam Byrd, cast so long as the nit-wit flotsam of white trash in "Tobacco Road", took his several years' earnings and lost them in a quixotic theatrical venture of his own. Again he has a similar role in a play destined for a long run, "Of Mice and Men." And already, as his weekly salary piles up, he is making plans to invest it in another similar venture.

The sum total of my ambitions through life centered on columnizing, so the other callings have had slight appeal. I have stuck to my last. Yet I invariably suffer a vague discontent when a tap dancer rat-ats off the stage to a burst of applause.

The fly-blown sand-carpeted eating places with pine-topped tables satisfy the Bowery hunger. Frescoed menus on the window herald: 3 boiled pork-chops with soup and coffee 20 cents; Beans and Yankee pot roast 15 cents; Fried meat balls 10 cents and Oxtail soup (two helpings) 5 cents. The waiters have stubby pompadours and take no back talk. The ventilation is poor and the air is fetid with fumes of alcohol, pipe smoke and cooking. Unappetizing, but the Bowery must eat.

I watched an accomplished brandy drinker in a restaurant last night. He was like a kitten with catnip while basking in the aroma from an enormous goblet. Now and then he would sip and roll his eyes heavenward, heaving an ecstatic sigh. During our stay he made away with four pourings and a waiter said his customary quota was a half dozen, after which he walked out steadily. With a half dozen, most of us would go out feet up on a litter.

THE STARS SAY

For Wednesday, December 29

Much sturdy progress should be made on this day in the way of solidifying the fortunes and interests, judging by the lunar aspects. Old and lagging projects may receive definite spur, with elders or old established institutions ready to assist in such security of finances and property interests, as well as in putting the social position upon a sounder basis.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year in which they may be able to feel solid ground under their feet after a period of depression or inertia.

A child born on this day may be studious, deep, steadfast and industrious, with energy and enterprise for putting over solid propositions and carving out a place of security in business and in his personal life. Elders should be disposed to assist in this.

INGROWN NAIL.
NOT SO long ago I told you something about the feet. In that article it was pointed out that care of the feet is essential to good health. Neglect of the feet may lead to permanent deformity and distressing disability.

Today, I want to tell you about a common disorder of the toes. In most instances it is caused by neglect of the feet. I refer to that condition known as ingrown toe-nail.

Ingrown toe-nail, as its name indicates, is the improper growth of the nail, causing it to dig into the soft tissues of the toe. This leads to irritation, inflammation and, in many instances, to subsequent infection. It is indeed a painful disorder. Sometimes, if neglected, it may actually lead to severe blood poisoning.

Regular Care

Persons who care for their feet as they should and trim the nails periodically, rarely, if ever, suffer from ingrown toenail. The feet are thoroughly cleansed with soap and water before trimming the nails. Leave the nails smooth after careful and deliberate trimming.

Avoid the wearing of faulty footwear. The shoes should be comfortable and provide ample toe room. Pointed and tight-fitting shoes are detrimental to good foot health. Short stockings, habitually worn, are almost as bad.

It is always best to attend to inflammation or infections about the toenail at the very first sign of the disorder. If pain is present, a wet dressing of warm boric acid solution should be applied. If the inflammation does not subside with this treatment and the pain persists, it is possible that pus is present under the nail.

Expert Attention

Under such circumstances, relief is only possible by removal of at least a part of the diseased nail, permitting free drainage of the pus. Of course, this can be done only by an expert. It is not a serious procedure, but should be skillfully done.

The little operation is performed under local anesthesia, without pain to the patient. The relief from pain and all discomfort is almost instantaneous. Within a short time a new nail will grow in, and that is the end of your misery. Under no circumstances ignore pain and throbbing along the edge of a toenail. If you are in doubt as to proper treatment, consult with your doctor or someone who knows about feet. Immediate care of such infections will do away with all danger and hasten complete recovery.

"GIVE HER WINGS" by MARIE BLIZARD

SYNOPSIS
Julie Allerdyce, 19-year-old daughter of Professor Allerdyce of the Ramsey Preparatory School for Boys, intends to get herself engaged to Dr. Richard Jessup, the most eligible bachelor in the little town of Fayette, New York. Tommy Jessup, the doctor's younger brother, adores Julie, but he is still in college and Julie looks forward to a glamorous future. Julie is furious when Dick telephones that he has to make a sick call and is sending Tommy to escort her to the spring dance. If possible, Dick will go to the dance later.

CHAPTER II
"Julie, you gonna take a bath?" Julie scorned to answer Coy. "If you are, you can take yourself right upstairs this minute 'cause I'm not goin' to light that heater agin. I'm goin' out of this house by seven o'clock so git along. There's plenty of hot water for you. I got all I want."

Julie thought she had had all she wanted too. She wondered what it would be like to have her dinner in a Jacobean dining-room, served by a butler who certainly wouldn't ask her if she was going to take a bath. She wondered what it would be like to be dressing in a tulle gown that cost three hundred dollars instead of in a little organdie she had made herself. She wondered what it would be like to make a breathless entrance into a ball-room and hear people murmur, "Who is that pretty girl?"

"But they do that now," she said dolefully.

And so they did. Only Julie Allerdyce wasn't pretty—she was beautiful. She was tall, her bones were small and gave her slenderness a fluid quality. She had deep grey-green eyes which were often more grey than green because of the shadows cast by her long, dark lashes. Her skin was ivory-tinted and the mass of her red-gold hair seemed sometimes to burden the head she carried proudly on her slender throat. Her mouth with a provocative short upper lip was full and generous.

If Julie hadn't been so beautiful, she would never have been unhappy. Nature had dressed her all up and she had no place to go.

The stunning truth of that had first struck her five years before when she was only seventeen.

Julie had been boy-conscious from the time she was a long-legged sprit with burnished curls down her back. When the Allerdyces left Boston for Fayette, she was ten. From the time she was fourteen until she was seventeen Julie was in a south heaven. She had an entire school to pay her court as the prettiest girl in town.

She danced her feet numb at the school dances, screamed herself hoarse—doing it prettily—at the hockey, football and basketball games. She collected autographed pictures of heroes, fraternity pins and dance programs. She had sentimental poetry written to her, received countless valentines and was invited by all five of the "outstanding men" in the senior class to their prom.

Life was very exciting then even if you were so poor that you had to knit your own sweaters and make your own dance frocks.

Julie had squeezed every moment out of it but when she was seventeen she realized that prep school boys after all were not men. They were only little boys, and when they went away back to their homes in New York, Palm Beach or Newport, they would not long remember her.

She heard about the outside world from them. The knowledge that there was a great, big, glamorous world outside and that there was no possible way in her scheme of things to enjoy it, came to her with a sudden, stunning force.

She had taken stock of herself and her possibilities, spending a long hour before her mirror. Then she had said to the determined girl who faced her there, "I can't sing and I can't even tap dance. I wouldn't be a stenographer or a trained nurse if my life depended on it. I can't find any way to get out of Fayette and if I could, I'd hate living in a furnished room. Even if the city is the only place where I'd meet the kind of a man I ought to marry. But I'll make the best marriage I can. Julie Allerdyce, you're pretty and you're not going to waste!"

That had been when she was seventeen. When she was nineteen she realized that the kind of a marriage she wanted was as nearly impossible as flight to that other world she knew about but had never seen.

Then Dick Jessup had come back to live again in "The Old Jessup Mansion" and to practice medicine. Julie Allerdyce was thinking about Dick Jessup. He was, she concluded, the best from every point of security that Fayette had to offer her.

There had always been beaux for her, she thought this night of the Opening Spring Dance at the Country club as she mixed her powder, blending the white and rachelle to the exact shade of her ivory skin.

There had been Professor Digby Barker. There had been young Judge Mehliam, Hilton Jarvis and Stephen Mather when they were home from college, and there was Tommy Jessup.

She stirred the powder angrily, thinking of Tommy Jessup. She was angry with Dick for sending Tommy in his place. She'd had enough of that snub-nosed brat who treated her with fine scorn and high-handed methods.

He was, she thought, the only boy she hadn't been nice to. There wasn't any reason why she should have been.

Her own thoughts demeaned her. They led inevitably to the end that she had had a purpose in being nice to all her beaux, showering them with the flattering attentions of a popular girl. Going out of her way to learn their likes and dislikes. Like reading about the Yungerman Case so that she could discuss it with Judge Merriam. Like joining the hospital charity league because that was one way she could force Dick Jessup to notice that she was a grown-up, sympathetic woman and not the little girl he remembered.

And all of this for what? Because she wanted to get married? Not for marriage itself, perhaps. She was too independent of spirit to have minded not marrying, but she couldn't face the appalling future of boredom, of growing into her thirties like . . . well, like Millicent Dodd who had nothing to fill her time but managing charitable enterprises.

Robert Taylor who ranks third as a box-office attraction. Bing Crosby finished fourth and William Powell followed. Others who finished the year with an excellent record at the gate include Sonja Henie, Tyrone Power, Don Ameche, Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers, and Jeanette MacDonald.

Trades Class Suffers First Set-Back In Class B Cage Loop

KRAUSS HEELS WIN OVERTIME CLASS B GAME

Saxons, Whit's Garage Also Triumph In Close Contests

The Class B City Basketball league was without any unbeaten teams for the first time of the season today after the Trades Class went the way of all undefeated aggregations during league games at the Memorial building gym last night.

The Tradesmen, who had won three straight contests, suffered their first set-back of the campaign when they fell before Krauss' Heels in a hotly-contested battle which stretched into two overtime periods.

Except for the first two quarters when the Trades Class held a comfortable lead, the game was a nip-and-tuck affair with the lead changing hands numerous times.

The Trades Class held a 12 to 8 lead at halftime, but the Heels rallied in the third period to tie the count at 12 to 12. Both teams tallied five points in the fourth quarter to end the regulation playing time all even at 17 to 17.

The score was still deadlocked at 19 to 19 at the end of the first overtime period. The Heels gained the victory in the second extra frame, scoring five points to the Tradesmen's one.

The Saxons and Christians also staged a heated battle for Class B fans with the Saxons coming out on top, 14 to 13.

A field goal by Johnny Ulrich, his lone tally of the game, in the last 10 seconds of play gained the victory for the Saxons.

Whit's Garage was forced to leave off a last-quarter rally by Demings before gaining a 19 to 18 victory over the Pump-makers in the only other game on last night's Class B program.

The Garagemen led 17 to 13 at the end of the third quarter but came near dropping the decision when held to two points in the last frame.

A scheduled game between the Baptists and Reich Trojans was won by the Trojans on a forfeit.

Pacific Coast Champions on Basketball Trip

Stanford's champion quintet

Rated as probably the No. 1 basketball team of the nation, Stanford's stellar quintet is making a coast-to-coast jaunt, meeting the best fives in the country. Last season when they won the west coast championship, the Indians won 25 out of 27 games and their ace forward, Hank Luisetti, scored 410 points, bringing his total to 1,126 for his three years in college. Shown left to right, are Phil Zone, Art Stoeffen, Luisetti, Jack Calderwood and Bob Zone.

SMITH-DODSON LEAD TOURNEY

Hold Stroke Edge Over Field In Hollywood Golf Meet

HOLLYWOOD, Fla., Dec. 28.—Horton Smith of Chicago and Leonard Dodson of Springfield, Mo., moved into the second round of the $4,000 Hollywood open golf tournament here today a stroke up on a bunch of field.

Within three strokes of the 67's tabulated by Smith and Dodson were 16 other golfers who equalled or bettered par 70 on opening day. Debonair Dick Metz of Chicago, who holds the course record of 63, and Bruce Coltart of Haddonfield, N. J., were a single shot back with 68's.

Johnny Revella of Evanston, Ill., winner of the $10,000 Miami Biltmore open; Benny Shute, PGA champion; Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y.; Jimmy Farrell of Hollywood, Frank Moore of Mamareneck, N. Y.; Jimmy Hines of New York, and Craig Wood of Rumson, N. J., posted 69's, just under par. Seven others were even with 69's.

Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., played an outsider's role after his opening 73. The low 69 pros and 15 amateurs at the end of 36 holes today qualify for tomorrow's final two rounds.

ENRIGHT TAKES CAROLINA POST

Georgia Coach Will Resign To Accept New Berth

COLUMBIA, S. C., Dec. 28.—Rex Enright, backfield coach at the University of Georgia, said early today he immediately would tender his resignation and accept an offer as head coach at the University of South Carolina.

The Carolina post was vacated last night by the unexplained resignation of Don C. McCallister, who had held the position since 1935.

Sol Blatt, a member of the student affairs committee of the board of trustees, announced from his home at Barnwell that Enright's contract would become effective on Jan. 3. He declined to divulge salary terms or the length of the agreement.

Enright, 35, of Rockford, Ill., was a star football player at Notre Dame.

Blatt said his committee expected Frank Patrick, fullback of the University of Pittsburgh's powerful 1937 eleven, to become Enright's backfield coach.

McCallister's contract had another year to run.

The retiring coach came to the gamecocks from Toledo, O., High school.

BOWLING RESULTS

The first-place Colonial Billiards of the Quaker City league saw their lead cut to one game at the Grate Recreation alleys last night as they fell before the Winona I. G. A. team in two out of three games.

Three teams, Althouse Motors, Harris Garage and the Tigers, are close behind in the Billiards in a tie for second place.

The leading Reich Sports team of the American league was idle at the Masonic temple alleys last night and as a result there was no important change in the standings.

Mullins Press Room, which was second to the Sports last week, fell from the runner-up position in one of the league's matches.

Crimson Tide Takes Day Off To Visit Movie Stars, Studios

(By Associated Press) The Alabama football team went to Hollywood today, California went back to work and Rose Bowl mathematicians went berserk trying to pick the winner of the New Year's day game on the basis of season statistics.

Captain Leroy Monsky led his crimson tide teammates over the movie town to see how motion pictures are made at a big studio.

Eighteen-year-old Margaret Early, Birmingham Starlet, acted as hostess and introduced Pat O'Brien, a No. one football fan, Bette Davis, Dick Powell, Olivia De Havilland, Rosemary and Priscilla Lane and a host of other celebrities.

While the Barmans watched the cameras turn, cameras turned on the Golden Bear squad. Coach Stubb Allison donated the morning practice to the lens crew, who snapped and cranked while Sam Chapman, Vic Bottari, Bob Herwig, Perry Schwartz and the rest of the Berkeley brigade went through the usual routines.

NORTHWEST IS SWEEP BY GALE

Ice, Snow, Rain and Landslides Cripple Both Travel and Communication

SEATTLE, Dec. 28.—Gales, ice, snow, rain and landslides crippled travel and communication as the year's worst and most widespread storm lashed the Pacific northwest today.

Traffic was halted on Portland,
Ore., streets as 4.47 inches of rain—heaviest fall since 1911—was recorded in 24 hours. A small tugboat, the Ben Hur, overturned and sank in Portland harbor while trying to move a heavy barge. Two men aboard were rescued.

Pioneer residents of the Idaho panhandle said the two-day snowstorm was the worst in memory.
The 35-inch snowfall at Wallace closed several mines. The fall measured 96 inches at Lookout summit on the Idaho-Montana divide.

A small girl, Jennie Carle, suffered a back injury, an ankle fracture and internal injuries at Wallace, Idaho, when a porch roof collapsed, burying her in snow half an hour.

Rising waters of the Willamette river threatened 45 families at Grand Island and Wheatland, Ore., as the Wheatland dam weakened.

A southeast gale which struck the Oregon coast Sunday reached a velocity of from 65 to 70 miles an hour at Astoria here last night, a naval communications reserve dispatch received here said.

New slides halted traffic on the Spokane, Portland and Seattle railway at Broadwood and piled additional debris on the lower Columbia river highway at Westport, closed by slides Sunday.

Two trainmen were killed when an S. P. & S. freight plowed into a slide and overturned Monday.

Pastor Suggests Couples Remarry Once Each Year

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 28.—Rev.
George J. Houtain wants American couples to remarry once each year
—as one new year's resolution they'll keep.

To give the idea a trial, he has set Jan. 2 as wedlock Sunday in the suburban Clinton Heights community congregational church of which he is pastor.

Calling America's new year's resolutions "meaningless jests," Mr.
Houtain said the "idea of New year's day as a day of new beginnings has been lost."

His idea is to preserve the American home as the "basic structure of the country," he added, "can thrive only in that nation where democracy is exalted in its homes, the family made significant and wedlock enshrined as a sacred institution."

"If once a year married persons would re-live the happy events that led them to the altar, the home would become more precious and the family unit more secure."

Yule Report Made By Salvation Army

Capt. and Mrs. Samuel Shannon of the Salvation Army expressed their thanks today to the Salem public for its contributions to the Christmas kettles during the preholiday days, and also to those who mailed in money.

The kettles brought in $200.34, while an additional $20 was mailed in. As a result 20 families received baskets for Christmas dinners, and more than 70 attended the children's party, receiving toys and candy.

This expense amounted to $170,
Capt. Shannon reported, leaving $50.84 for winter relief care.

Twenty transients were housed and fed by the Salvation Army during the month of December. The majority of these individuals were trying to make their way home to spend Christmas.

CAMPBELL GIRL FREED TODAY

Coroner Returns Verdict
Of Accident In Campbell Death

Other inquest witnesses were Lucious Cochran, 33, of nearby Youngstown, friend of the family, and Mrs. Uretta Bronch, sister of Miss Campbell, both of whom were present in the red brick Campbell mansion at the time of the shooting.
The testimony was taken behind the closed doors of the prosecutor's office. Neither Dr. Henshaw nor Reagen would discuss it in detail.
Hodge said the slim dog fancier and horsewoman had expressed no desire to leave the jail and Mrs.
Bronch added that Miss Campbell seemed "perfectly contented to remain in the jail."

"She told me," Hodge said, "that she wants to die."

Hodge said his client told him she left the house Christmas eve and went to her car outside, but found she did not have the ignition keys.

"Before leaving the car she picked up a gun which she usually carried in the car and which was lying on the front seat," Hodge said. "Her big dog was in the car and was jumping from seat to seat and she was afraid that he might accidentally set the gun off."

Hodge said she returned to the house and when nobody answered her question about the car keys,
"stepped up to within one foot of a candle and then fired."

"Mrs. Campbell, who was standing near a table wrapping Christmas packages, attempted to take the gun from her daughter after the shot and as she seized it the revolver went off and the bullet went through her abdomen."

County investigators said they were told approximately the same story by other witnesses.

Funeral services for Mrs. Campbell, which family friends said would be rigidly private, was scheduled for 3 p. m. today.

HOLD RITES FOR NEWTON BAKER

Statesmen, Military Leaders, Politicians And "Man in the Street"
Pay Last Respects

CLEVELAND, Dec. 28.—Statesmen and military leaders, political figures and jurists, World war veterans and "the man in the street" assembled to pay final tribute today to Newton D. Baker at rites for the pacifist who became President Wilson's secretary of war.

To messages from the nation over was added an expression of condolence from President Roosevelt. Addressed to Mrs. Baker, it read:

"Mrs. Roosevelt and I offer sincere sympathy in the loss which has fallen so heavily upon you and yours in the untimely passing of a loved and loving husband and father."

"Newton D. Baker, as secretary of war, directed the raising and equipment in the shortest time of the largest army ever made ready for action, and he will long be remembered as a faithful and efficient public servant."

Cleveland throngs viewed the body of the former mayor and Democratic leader at Trinity Episcopal cathedral, where two U. S. infantrymen stood guard at the bier.

In charge of the services (at 3
p. m.) were Bishop Warren Lincoln Rogers of the Ohio Episcopal diocese and Dr. Chester B. Emerson, dean of the cathedral.

Military flags throughout the country were ordered at half-staff during the services.

James Stewart, Tom Brown and Robert Young, featured in "Navy Blue and Gold," showing at the State Wednesday through Friday

The State offers the film, "Navy
Blue and Gold," on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. The picture features Robert Young, James Stewart, Lionel Barrymore, Florence Rice, Billie Burke, Tom Brown, Samuel S. Hinds, Paul Kelly and Barnett Parker.

Story of Three Middies

"Navy Blue and Gold" is the story of three midshipmen at Annapolis naval academy who come from different environments and happen to draw the same quarters for their first year. All three of them are essentially fine, but with varying motives.

Young presents the character of a football husky from the south who frankly has no intention of remaining in the service. Stewart portrays a glib up from the bowels of a battleship who passes his examinations for the academy in the hope of winning stripes. Tom Brown is the son of a wealthy family and brother of Florence Rice.

Lionel Barrymore again gives a characteristic performance of sterling value as the veteran coach and retired naval officer, who retains his interest and enthusiasm for the high ideals of youth.

Just before the Army-Navy game is scheduled, Stewart is involved in a dramatic scandal when it is learned that he entered the Academy under an assumed name, owing to a rumored stain on the escutcheon of his father, a former navy officer. He clears his name and with Young and Brown in the Navy line beside him, the sailors defeat Army in a game that is as exciting as the newsreel records of today's gridiron battles.

Double Bill Concludes

The double bill concluding tonight at the State theater includes "Night Club Scandal," featuring John Barrymore, Lynne Overman, Harvey Stephens, Louise Campbell, Evelyn Brent and Charles Bickford; and a Wheeler and Woolsey comedy,
"High Flyers."

Two pictures open at the Grand Wednesday to show through Thursday. The first feature is "Expensive Husbands," with Patric Knowles and Beverly Roberts. The second picture is "Idol of the Crowds," with John Wayne and Sheila Bromley
in the leading roles.

A return engagement of the early film success, "Trader Horn," with Harry Carey in the title role, will be seen at the Grand for the last time tonight.

"Roselle," a musical starring Nelson Eddy and Eleanor Powell, Frank Morgan, Edna May Oliver and others, opens at the State Friday night for a midnight showing and continues through Saturday, Sunday and Monday.
